VICTOR MOORE IN "THE RACE" AT THE ALHAMBRA

Victor Moore, who recently created such a sensation in the Jesse L. Lasky production of "Chimmie Fadden Out West" will be seen at the Alhambra on Thursday and Friday, in "The Race," supported by Anita King, The Paramount Girl, and an excellent Lasky cast.

"The Race" is a thrilling drama founded upon Miss King's recent transcontinental motor trip, which she made absolutely alone from Los Angeles to New York City.

Last summer, Miss King, who is an enthusiastic motorist, was convinced that she could make the long transcontinental drive in an automobile, unattended. She secured permission from Jesse L. Lasky, the head of the company. On September first she left the exposition grounds at San Francisco carrying messages from the mayor of that city to Mayor Mitchell of New York. It took this brave young woman forty-nine days to complete this journey—twenty-nine of these days it rained continuously and she had to battle through the mud over the major portion of the trip.

She lost her way. Her car became imbedded in the mire and in trying to dig it out her shovel broke. She was without food, and to increase her terror, she was attacked by a wolf. She was able to kill the animal, but after the struggle fell exhausted in her car where she was found in an unconscious condition the next morning by three prospectors.

Her entire trip was filled with thrilling incidents, many of which are incorporated in the picture and were filmed at the exact locality in which they happened. During the photographing of the picture Miss King was injured several times.

The production was made under the direction of George H. Melford, of the Lasky company, and is said to be one of the most unusual as well as artistic pictures the Lasky company has ever produced.

In addition to Anita King, are Victor Moore surrounded by a cast of unusual excellence, including such prominent actors as Robert Bradbury, William Dale, Horace B. Carpenter, Mrs. Louis McCord, Jane Wolf and other members of the Lasky all-star organization. Miss King visited Ogdien last summer, the guest of the Alhambra Theater.

PASSING SHOW 1915 COMING TO OGDEN

The directors of the justly famous New York Garden take pleasure in announcing the engagement at the Orpheum theatre Wednesday, May 3rd, of "The Passing Show of 1915." And they also wish to assure the patrons of this theatre that this is the mightiest, girliest and most gorgeous all of the Winter Garden Mastodon spectacles. In its huge company of 125 people will be found practically an all-star cast entirely surrounded by one of the most bewitching bevy of stage beauties ever corralled into one chorus. There are yards and yards of girls, each seemingly more divinely fair than her sisters—oceans of smiles—miles of scenic equipment and a world of melody.

Heading the host of stars and near stars in this great cast are such popular favorites of the Winter Garden shows as George Monroe, Eugene and Willie Howard, Marilyn Miller, Ernest Hare, Sam Hearn, Edmund Goulding, Helen Eley, Margaret Wards and Alex. Kowloff and his internationally famous Imperial Russian Ballet.

Like its predecessors, "The Passing Show of 1915," is a series of travesties on the popular dramatic hits of the season. "The Song of Songs," "Twin Beds," "Polygamy," "Tribby" and "Experience" all come in for their shares of burlesquing.

Dame Fashion plays no unimportant part in the success of this latest spectacle, and the hundreds of gowns displayed during the course of the entertainment causes many a gurgling gasp of delight from the feminine portion of the audience.

The entire production is staged by J. C. Huffman, the noted Winter

Garden director. The dialogue and lyrics are by Harold Atteridge; the music by Leo Edwards, W. P. Peters and J. Leubrie Hill; the dances by Jack Mason; ballets by Theodore Kosloff, while the orchestral numbers are under the expert direction of Herr Samuel Lehman, who also leads the baton over the augmented orchestra of forty musicians recruited from the famous Winter Garden of New York City.
